WANTS TO BE A TANNER.

A MILWAUKEE LADY WHO STANDS READY TO TAKE THE DOCTOR.

THE AMBITION OF A SEVENTH WARD WOMAN—WHY SHE PROPOSED MARRIAGE TO THE CHAMPION FASTER—A HUSBAND THAT WOULD NOT GET HUNGRY.

A rather plump, good-looking woman, perhaps 35 years of age, rode up in one of the "hill cars" of the East Side line yesterday afternoon. Her attire was neat but not gaudy, and in one hand she held a rather flatish morocco pocket-book, while in the other she crumpeled the pages of a twilight newspaper. A representative of The Sentinel and an elderly gentleman who was hard of hearing were the other occupants of the car. There was nothing extraordinary in the appearance of this female, and it was with a good deal of surprise that The Sentinel reporter was aroused from a pleasing revery by a shrill and emphatic "Oh, gracious."

The deaf old gentleman sat gazing unmoved across the vista of bygone time. It was evident that he had neither made nor heard the exclamation. But the plump woman was in a state of lovely confusion. She had dropped her pocket book and convulsively clutched the drapery that surrounded the fullness of her waist, while the folds of the newspaper illy served to hide

THE RICH RED COLOR OF HER FACE.

The man of letters picked up her pocket-book and returned it without examination, for he was aware of a keen eye watching him from behind a corner of the newspaper. So he only said:

"Spasm, ma'am?"

"Oh, no sir! no—no spasm."

"Palpitation?"

"Well, no—that is, yes—I—its no consequence, thank you."

And she gave a sort of a gulp to choke down an incipient attack of hysterics, and again settled down behind her paper.

That there was some mystery connected with this affair at once occurred to the only interested spectator, and he watched the lady till she left the car in the upper part of the Seventh Ward. To step out and "shadow" her was the most natural thing in the world. She soon entered a dwelling of some pretensions, and the shadower carefully noted the number and name on the door.

An hour later, the same gentleman of literary pursuits glanced at the afternoon paper, and by some strange coincidence noted in its columns a dispatch from New York, stating that a Milwaukee woman had written to Dr. Tanner, the champion faster, offering marriage. It was just about on this spot that the strange female of the horse car had riveted her eye. Quick as a flash came the conviction—she was the woman who had written the letter!

Fifteen minutes later a vigorous pull at the strange female's door-bell was answered by the s. f. in person. She remembered her companion of the horse car, and a cardinal hue crept across her features. However, she invited him in.

"I beg pardon for this intrusion, ma'am," said the scribe, producing the paper, "but are my suspicions correct? Did you—?"

BLUSHING STILL MORE

violently, the lady hung her head and nodded in assent.

"May I inquire what prompted this step?"

"You are a reporter, I suppose?"

"Well—er—yes—that is—I—well—I suppose I am."

She sighed till the reporter wondered at the strength of her stays, and went on:

"I didn't suppose this thing would get back here so soon; but they got the name wrong, so I don't care. You see," she said, "I am an ardent admirer of science. My first husband was a professor—a very scientific person—but he was rather worldly in his appetite, and fell a victim to apoplexy. Then, [and here she sighed again till it was doubtful if the windows would stand the pressure]. I married again. My second husband was a physician, and a man of great attainments; but I never saw a man eat so much in my life. His practice was not very good and I had to take boarders; but actually the man ate up all that I made out of the boarders, and in the end ate himself to death—died of indigestion. [Another sigh.] Dr. Tanner, you know, is unquestionably a man of science—a great genious—and he has a mind above eating. If there is anything in this world I would rejoice in, it would be to marry a man who does not care to eat.

The reporter gazed at her solid proportions in seeming doubt, and she interpreted the gaze easily.

"Yes, I know. That's what they all say. But

I EAT BUT LITTLE.

I assure you, sir, a mere morsel of food will keep me. Why, I rarely eat more than once a day, and then but a very moderate amount."

"But you lunch sometimes?"

"Oh, yes—but that don't amount to anything."

"And so you wrote to Dr. Tanner because you admired his abstemiousness in the matter of diet?"

She looked as if she did not exactly comprehend, but went on.

"Oh, yes. It would be something glorious to have such a husband. Just think of it—a man who absolutely does not eat at all!"

"You keep boarders, do you not?"

She answered, plaintively, "Yes." And just then, a red-faced man passed through the hall, stopping to enquire, as he passed:

"Mary Jane,

"AIN'T GRUB ABOUT READY?"

Again she sighed, as she said:

"That is my husband—my third—He—"

"But, madam—great Cæsar!—excuse me—but how can you marry Dr. Tanner if you have a husband living?"

This time she did not sigh. She smiled—a broad, hopeful smile.

"Oh, he's just like the rest. He's a very nice man—but he will eat himself to death in a few months, and I thought I had better take advantage of leap year and make sure."

With the most profound admiration for the lady's wonderful sagacity, the reporter in silence bowed and withdrew.

PREPARATION FOR LAYING THE CORNER STONE ON NEXT SUNDAY WEEK.

All the Catholic societies were represented at the meeting in the school hall of St. Mary's Church, last evening, to further arrangements for a grand procession on the occasion of the laying of the corner stone for Marquette College. Chief Marshal Brand presided. The route of the procession had been determined and the order of the divisions remained to be decided. Numbers were placed and the representatives of the several divisions were ordered to draw for their places in the procession. This resulted as follows: First, West Side societies: second, Bohemian societies; third, South Side German societies; fourth, societies of St. Gall's Church, of St. John's Cathedral, and of St. Patrick's Church; fifth, East Side societies; sixth, Polish societies.

The Chief Marshal was directed to detail the uniformed companies, the Sheridan Guard; the Knights of St. Patrick; the Kosciusko Guard, and the Knights of St. George. It was reported that the West Side societies had engaged three bands. All the remaining divisions had hired bands except the societies of St. Gall's Church, which will probably be headed by the juvenile band.

Yesterday afternoon the Chamber of Commerce Committee consulted with Col. Houston in regard to the formation of a harbor of refuge here by work in the bay, instead of in the river. From the correspondence with their craft at other points the machinists at the new shops of the St. Paul Railway Company learned that their wages are higher than the rates paid elsewhere. The police have been quietly considering the object of a burglarious entrance to W. A. Fricke's barber shop, in the basement on the northeast corner of Broadway and Wisconsin street. Except the small amount of change in the till of the shop there was nothing they could readily convert into ready cash. The supposition is that the burglars had in view the five stores on the Wisconsin street front, and that they had hoped to gain access to them by way of Fricke's shop. But they failed and the police kept the matter quiet, hoping that the operators would renew their undertaking, in which case the fellows would have been nabbed.

The bids to improve the harbors of Milwaukee, Racine and Kenosha according to specifications in the office of Col. Houston were opened in the office of that Government Engineer yesterday and found to be as follows: To dredge 30,000 cubic yards out of Milwaukee Harbor, the Green Bay Dredge and Pile-Driver Association proposed to do the work for 24 cents a cubic yard, and Smith, Starke & Co., of this city, at 23 cents a cubic yard. For the work at Racine and Kenosha but one bid was received and that was from Knapp & Gillen, of Racine. The specifications call for the extension of a pier at each harbor by the placement of a crib 50 feet long and the building of superstructures on the cribs placed last season. The bid for Racine was $5855.08 and for Kenosha $4640.71. All the proposals will be sent to Washington, where the award of contract will be determined. The rule is to the lowest responsible bidder, and in case there is no competition work is let to the only bidder in the event that his proposal is reasonable.

STRUCK A SNAG.

MEMPHIS, July 30.—At 10 o'clock this morning the Anchor Line steamer City of Vicksburg, enroute from St. Louis to Vicksburg, while lying at Ashport, Tenn., 120 miles above Memphis, was found to be in a sinking condition. The boat was about being backed out from the landing and time was barely given for passengers to save themselves. Fortunately, however, all escaped, although the boat sunk within ten minutes. It is thought she struck an old stump while making a landing, which crushed her hull. She lies close to the shore with her larboard side under water to the hurricane deck. The boat and cargo are a total loss. She was nine years old and valued at $50,000; uninsured. Her passengers were brought to Memphis by the steamer Golden City. Her freight consisted of 7000 packages destined for Memphis merchants, beside a good lot of way freight for points between here and Vicksburg. It is rumored two or three of the deck crew were downed.

WHY THEY SUPPORT HIM.

DETROIT, July 30.—The national secretary of the Socialistic Labor Party, whose office is in this city, furnishes the following to the Associated Press: The national executive committee of the Socialistic Labor Party has received from Gen. Jas. B. Weaver, the Greenback candidate for President, a letter declaring his approval of the Socialistic land resolution adopted by the recent National convention of the Greenback Labor party at Chicago. As the question of the endorsement of the Greenback candidate by the Socialistic Labor Party depended largely on the position of Gen. Weaver on the land question, the reply of this gentleman is believed to be entirely satisfactory and is likely to give him the support of all labor and land reformers.

CROPS IN IOWA.

DUBUQUE, July 30.—Harvesting in this section of Iowa will be finished to-morrow night. Wheat and oats in the stack and gathered are in the best possible condition. The yield of wheat, as compared with last year's, will be about the same. Oats and corn are an immense crop—fully 25 per cent above last year's yield.

THE UTE COMMISSION.

LOS PINOS AGENCY, Col., July 29, VIA LAKE CITY, Col., July 30.—Forty-eight chiefs and headmen of the Uncompahgre Utes signed the treaty yesterday. The success of the commission is assured beyond doubt. Ouray assured the commission that no trouble will be experienced in getting the White River and Southern Utes now that the Uncompahgres have agreed to the treaty. Instructions were received yesterday from Washington informing the commission that the reservation would not be thrown open for settlement until the Indians were removed and proclamation made by the President to that effect.

Yesterday the council convened very late, owing to the non-arrival of Indians who do not appear to like the way the commissioners talked yesterday. Several chiefs opposed the treaty, land in severalty being the main objection. Several made such strong speeches that it was thought the whole affair would be a failure. Col. Monypenny, Col. Bowman of Kentucky, and Judge Russell, of Iowa, delivered arguments showing the Indians their desire to do justice. Otto Mears made a personal appeal to several chiefs whom he had befriended to sign the treaty, after which Sapavanawo signed. Others followed and when the committee adjourned forty-eight of the principal chiefs and headmen had signed the agreement.

THE DOCTOR'S FAST.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Dr. Tanner has greatly improved to-day. At 3:15 this morning he vomited a small quantity of mucus. He then drank 1½ ounces of carbonic acid gas water. A letter from Mary J. Frindahs, of Milwaukee, offering the doctor her hand and heart greatly amused him. He walked 25 laps around the inclosure in the hall, about two-thirds of a mile, in 18 minutes. His gait was free and steady.

Dr. Tanner had four spells of vomiting during the day. At 9 o'clock to-night he retired to a cot on the gallery and was soon in restless sleep, from which he awoke at 10:15 and requested that a wet towel be laid on his head which seemed to pain him, and he was given an ounce of mineral water. He continued restless, but at midnight appeared to be sleeping. During twenty-four hours ending at midnight he drank about half a pint of carbonic acid water and less than a gill of syring water.

THE BENDER FAMILY.

FREMONT, Neb., July 30.—To-day a man named Hoofian, who formerly resided in the Bender neighborhood in Kansas and who knew the old man personally, was admitted to the prisoner's presence and identified the man as actually the old man Bender. He is not so positive to the woman. The woman claims that Mrs. Bender died in 1876. The whereabouts of Kate and John Bender, Jr., has been disclosed, and officers are en route to capture them. The prisoners were to have met John Bender to-day in this State.

LONDON, July 30.—Arrived, Elyria from New York.

CABINET MEETING.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—At the Cabinet meeting to-day all departments with the exception of the War Department were represented. Acting Secretary Bell, of the Interior Department, called attention to a dispatch received from the chairman of the Ute commission yesterday, but no positive policy concerning the matter was decided on. The Spanish difficulty was discussed, but no definite conclusions reached. Secretary Evarts, however, remained with the President some time after all other members had gone.

Secretary Evarts to-day received the affidavit of Capt. Parsons, of the schooner George Washington, who arrived at the port of Baltimore July 27, regarding the searching of his vessel by Spaniards off the coast of Cuba. The paper has been grouped with documents of a similar purport heretofore received by the State Department in the course of official investigation of the subject which is now in progress. Secretary Evarts said to-day that he was anticipating further details from the Boston vessel, the schooner Silas Newcomb. The Secretary considers the affidavit of Capt. Parsons, of the Baltimore schooner, a very clear statement, but he says: "Of course there can be no action taken by the United States government until all the facts in the case are in its possession. If upon thorough investigation it shall appear to the satisfaction of the administration that the Spanish government has really insulted the dignity of the United States flag, a demand for reparation will be made." Secretary Evarts does not apprehend any difficulty whatever. On the contrary he anticipates in the event of its being proved that indignity occurred on the high seas that the Spanish government will make prompt reparation when called upon to do so, as it did in the case of two American fishermen who were interfered with about two years ago. In that case $5000 were paid to each of the captains as an indemnification for injuries sustained.

The Secretary during further conversation on the subject, alluding to certain criticisms regarding questions at issue, said that every proper means was being employed by the Department with a view of obtaining all the facts in the case and reaching a satisfactory conclusion.
