One of the largest and most elaborate secret society banquets and receptions that has ever been given in Milwaukee took place last evening at the Plankinton house, the event being given by Ivanhoe Commandery No. 24, Knights Templar, in honor of the advancement of twenty-one companions of the Illustrious Order of the Red Cross. The guests included members of the commandery and their wives and women friends to the number of 225. They were received in the Arcade, where Clauder's orchestra gave musical selections. The arcade was handsomely decorated with plants and palms. Two banners of the commandery, which cost $1,000 and are said to be among the handsomest in the West, were displayed.

The banquet was held in the large dining room. The tables were immaculate in snowy linen and glassware, and handsome floral centerpieces were seen. Steward King's excellent menu was as follows:

NEW MANUFACTURING CONCERN.

The Messrs. Stafford to Engage in a Big Undertaking—Some New Patents.

What promises to be a very important manufacturing company was incorporated yesterday by J. B. Irwin, H. H., W. K. and Charles M. Stafford, under the firm name of the Irwin-Stafford Manufacturing company. The capital stock is $600,000, and the company will manufacture hydraulic and pneumatic machinery the patents on which are held by J. B. Irwin, a patent lawyer and inventor who has been in business here for eighteen years. The other members are the owners of the W. K. Stafford Crockery company, which has been in business here for seven years, having superseded the Western Crockery company. The Messrs. Stafford are closing out their crockery business so they can devote their entire attention to the new enterprise.

Where the new company will be located has not been definitely decided, but it will soon build a factory for present necessities 50 by 150 feet and two stories high. The Stafford business will be closed out by May 1 and it is expected to have the new factory ready by that time, or as soon after as possible. Fifty men will be put at work at once and the force will be gradually increased as the firm enlarges its business.

The principal articles which will be manufactured will be water elevators to lift water to the top stories of buildings in cities like Chicago, New York, Brooklyn, Jersey City and other places where the city pressure is not sufficient to carry the water to the top. These elevators work automatically and were patented and have been in use over two years. They can also be used where there is no city pressure, by the use of compressed air, and are valuable for suburban residences. The other articles manufactured will be hydraulic and hand air compressers and hydraulic and pneumatic pressure regulators. The firm will also soon begin the manufacture of another of Mr. Irwin's patents—an hydraulic motor, which has been perfected and tested, but on which the letters patent have not yet been issued. These, with three or four other specialties, all of Mr. Irwin's invention, will compose the principal articles to be turned out.

The firm has had offers from Janesville and other cities, but they prefer to remain in this city, and will in all probability locate here. There will be a meeting of the incorporators in a few days, when officers will be elected.

On the southern trip of the steamer Menomonee of the Goodrich line, last Sunday, when between Manitowoc and Sheboygan, a carrier pigeon lighted on the guard rail of the pilot house and remained there until secured by one of the crew. She did not leave the boat until Tuesday morning, when the steamer was off Racine. The pigeon flew off toward shore but immediately returned to the boat and mounted the pilot house. Capt. Stein, who arrived on the steamer last evening, says the bird has remained with him and thinks it must have lost its course in flying. It has a steel band on the left leg with the following inscription: "O. L. K., 185-92."

Inspection of Engines.

The stationary engineers of this city have put on foot a movement to secure better inspection of boilers and to establish a uniform standard for engineers, so that incompetent men cannot take charge of engines and boilers. In 1885 the New York legislature passed a bill prohibiting any person from operating an engine or boiler in the city of New York who had not passed an examination and been duly authorized to perform the work by the proper authority. The Milwaukee engineers seek to have the same thing done here, and a bill has been introduced to the legislature looking to this end. There are about 800 boilers in the city, and the proposed legislation would affect that number of men. At present there is no inspection, and the engineers believe that many accidents might be avoided if a system of inspection was introduced. Engineer James A. Bruce of the Fire department has collected considerable information on the subject, which he will send to Madison.

He believes the World's fair will create a scarcity of the white fluid and he is fortifying himself in that direction. He has the facilities of increasing the supply as fast as the business increases. He also invites the health officials to make a rigid examination of all that pertains to the business.

CHOICE BUSINESS PROPERTY BEING SYNDICATED.

Substantial and judicious capitalists are giving attention to the syndicate being formed by Asmus & Zinns to handle a five-acre tract of business property on the South side, at Eleventh and National avenues. It is at the southern terminus of the Sixteenth street and Eleventh avenue viaduct, and will be greatly increased in value by the opening of the viaduct, as that is sure to be a prominent business center. The stock is being taken rapidly and the company will be organized in a few days. Stockholders are confident the property will more than double in value in four years.
