Mr. Whipperman put in a bill appropriating $8,000 a year for university extension in the special study of economics.

Mr. Stanley has a bill paying a state forest warden $2,000 a year.

There are five or six bills in for new counties, one to be called Upham, and to be created out of Price, Sawyer and Chippewa. Another creates Rivers county of Clark, Marathon and Wood, with Marshfield as the county seat.

Mr. Hurd wants to repeal the charter of Necedah.

Assemblyman Hagemeister received a telegram today that his brother was dying and he went home to Green Bay.

In the Senate.

The senate received petitions without number and bills came in shoals.

Mr. Austin offered the McFetridge petition and resolution.

Bills were introduced:

By Mr. Timme, making Lincoln's birthday a legal holiday.

By Mr. Fisher, relating to sidewalks and chronic insane. Also exempting the property of the Milwaukee Medical society from taxation. Also to extend gas mains in Milwaukee.

By Mr. McGeehan, to regulate express companies.

By Mr. Mills, defining and regulating warehouses.

By Mr. Stout, to encourage founding of libraries.

Night Sessions.

Both houses will hold sessions tonight to receive bills, which came in shoals all the morning. It now looks as though the list would be the largest on record.

Bills passed: Defining the term "night time" in connection with burglary; providing for extra reporters in circuit courts; prohibiting attorneys from signing bail bonds; appropriating $25,000 for a Chickamauga monument.

TAXES OF BIG CORPORATIONS.

Express and Sleeping Car Companies Fight O'Neils' and Bashford's Bills.

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 11.—Mr. O'Neil has introduced a bill that taxes express companies 4 per cent of their gross earnings in the state, after deducting the amount paid to railways.

Mr. Bashford's bill to tax palace and sleeping-car companies is modeled after the Pennsylvania statute, and provides for taxing them on a prorata scheme, by making a comparison of their gross earnings in Wisconsin with their entire earnings and then using the result as the basis for a tax on a proportionate share of the entire property of the country. The bill will be fought by a lobby from Chicago.

Senator Mills' Bills.

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 12.—Among the bills in are several by Mr. Mills, as follows: Providing that when there are more than 3,000 descriptions in a tax list the job of publishing it shall be let to the lowest bidder; providing for grand and petit juries and for the appointment of special prosecuting attorneys; establishing boards of fire and police commissioners in cities of the second and third classes; allowing cities additional latitude in the issue of improvement bonds; giving the Superior municipal court current jurisdiction with justices of the peace; providing that tax certificates shall not be sold for less than their face value, except after due advertisement; fixing the maximum rate for advertising tax sales at 25 cents a description when there are less than 4,000, and 15 cents when above that number; allowing cities special latitude in street and harbor improvements.

A FOREST FIRE BILL

State Warden and Deputies to Patrol the Pine Lands.

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 12.—A bill was introduced today which provides for the better protection of life and property aginst forest fires. This was the bill decided upon by the State Forestry association. Section 1 provides for the appointment by the governor of a state forest warden for a term of six years. His duties are defined in section 2, which makes him responsible for the enforcement of the provisions of the bill. Under section 3 all town supervisors and pathmasters are constituted fire wardens. The chairman of the town board shall be designated town fire warden; the others shall be designated district fire wardens.

Each town shall be divided into fire districts and each district shall be under the charge of one district fire warden. Section 4 provides that wherever, in sparsely settled districts, the discovery of fires is difficult and the speedy arrival of fire wardens is impossible, or wherever forest owners, whose property is especially endangered, require aid, the state forest warden may during the months of July, August, September and October appoint special fire patrols, to be paid at daily rates, one-half of the expense to be paid by lands so patrolled, the other half to be paid by the state. The compensation is not to exceed $2 a day.

Under section 5 whenever, in the opinion of the town fire warden, it becomes necessary, he shall exercise general supervision of the work of extinguishing fires, and at such times district wardens shall be subject to his orders. Any persons who shall refuse to assist the fire warden or comply with his orders shall be fined $10 with cost of action. Fire wardens shall receive for their services as such $3 per day, for as many days as they are actually on duty in the work of controlling or extinguishing fires.

Section 6. Any person or persons, society or corporation, cutting or felling, any tree shall, at the time of such cutting, sever all branches two inches or less in diameter from the trunks and larger branches of such trees. The penalty for failure to do this provision shall be $5 for each offense.

Section 7 provides that railroad companies shall keep their right of way clear in such condition as to reduce to a minimum the possibility of fire running across or along the same. All railroad companies shall within six months after the passage of the bill attach spark arresters to all engines.

Section 9 makes it a punishable offense for hunters, trappers, campers, etc., to start camp fires without reasonable precautions to prevent damage from the same. The salary of the forest warden is to be $2,000 and traveling expenses.

Number of Bills Introduced.

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 12.—The number of bills introduced in the legislature in the last four sessions was as follows:

	Assembly.	Senate.	Total.
1887	887	396	1,283
1889	938	408	1,346
1891	856	347	1,203
1893	780	335	1,115

To Appraise State Lands.

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 12.—The State Forestry association has in a bill providing that the state withdraw its lands from market until the value and nature of each tract can be ascertained, and that when this is done only agricultural lands shall be sold, the rest being retained forever as a public park or resort.

SENATE'S EVENING SESSION.

Nearly Every Senator Had a Pocketful of New Bills.

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 12.—President pro tem. Weeks called the senate to order last evening. A communication from the secretary of state and the state treasurer was announced giving an account of the loans from the school trust funds. Petitions were read from residents of the state favoring the geological bill, the Wisconsin Firemen association bill, the fish and game bill, the pure politics bill, and for the prohibition of the use of nets in St. Croix county.

Resolutions introduced: By Mr. Putnam from the Rock County Teachers' association, favoring the better equipment of normal schools; by Mr. Bashford, asking the governor to return the bill ceding jurisdiction of Devil's Island in Ashland county for further consideration.

Bills were introduced:

By Mr. Altpeter, to amend the loans governing medical societies.

By Mr. Bashford, to authorize the governor to grant two additional pardons on July 4 of each year. Also to permit consolidated railway corporations to give or take a lease or sell or purchase or give or take a conveyance or assignment. Also to permit county judges to confine in places for safe-keeping persons whose sanity is questioned pending investigation for a period not exceeding twenty days. Also relating to the conveyance of lands of deceased persons in pursuance of contract. Also requiring guardians to give bond to the judge of the county court when appointed for an insane or incompetent persons or spendthrifts. Also allowing the special administrator of an estate all necessary expenses and $1 a day for services. Also to prohibit mutual beneficiary or fraternal corporations or lodges doing business in the state which does not collect annually from its members over and above expenses, reserves and emergency funds, an amount of money equal to the average mortuary requirements of death losses. Also to require county court judges to draw all necessary papers free of charge in the settlement of estates of deceased persons where the sum involved does not exceed $1,000. Also to authorize A. L. Sanborn and J. R. Berryman to compile the statutes of the state. Also repealing the Dane county drainage laws of 1889. Also to provide for the appointment of guardians at the nomination of minors.

By Mr. Spensley, to permit a person to set aside action to sell land for taxes by depositing the amount for which the land was sold with the county clerk. Also to permit twelve freeholder residents of towns to call the supervisors together to rescind orders affecting highways in construction or change; also, to allow clerks of circuit courts 3 cents per folio for comparing and certifying copies of judgments, orders or reports; also, to amend the laws dividing cities into classes and providing for their incorporation and government, providing for but one justice of the peace and one constable in cities of the second, third and fourth

(Concluded on Sixth Page.)

FIRE IN A POORHOUSE

BROWN COUNTY'S FORTY-FIVE PAUPERS ARE BURNED OUT.

A LOSS OF ABOUT $10,000

Testimony in the Klein Adoption Case Is Now Favorable to Bear, the Present Custodian of the Child—State News.

GREEN BAY, Wis., Feb. 12.—About 10 o'clock this morning the Brown county poor house, which is about six miles from this city, in the town of Preble, was totally destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of $10,000. When the fire was discovered the excitement among the feeble old inmates was intense, and it was with the greatest difficulty that the superintendent and attendants succeeded in rescuing them from the burning building.

The building was a two-story square wooden structure and was built a number of years ago by the Rev. William Rowbotham and from him purchased by the county for the use of the poor. The fire originated this morning from the kitchen, where a defective pipe was in use. Every possible effort to save the structure was put forth by those about the place, but in the absence of sufficient water power their work counted for naught and the building was entirely consumed.

As soon as the news of the disaster reached the city a number of citizens drove out to the place, and among those who went out were several members of the county board. Action will immediately be taken to rebuild the almshouse on a more modern and useful plan. There were about forty-five inmates, and as soon after the fire as possible they were taken over to the Brown county insane asylum, which was near by, and will be cared for there until some more suitable place is found for them.

LA CROSSE, Wis., Feb. 12.—While the fire truck was crossing the street car track on Mills street this morning an electric car ran into it, throwing the driver, Daniel Desmond, violently to the ground and rendering him insensible. When picked up he was found to be badly hurt about the head, though it is not known how seriously.

DOOR COUNTY SNOWED UP.

It Took Many Hours to Clear Away the Drifts—A Mail Car.

STURGEON BAY, Wis., Feb. 12.—Owing to the snow blockade, parties who left Milwaukee Wednesday afternoon for Sturgeon Bay and points on the peninsula did not arrive in this city until yesterday. Those who did not see the immense drifts can form no idea of the condition of things along the line from Casco Junction to this place. Several places the drifts were seven feet deep and packed so hard that a pick had to be used to remove them. Men could walk all over them without making any more impression than on a well-beaten highway. The delayed travelers were not inclined to be very pleasant over the situation until they saw the amount of work that had been required to release them. After viewing the piles of snow which lined both sides of the track for miles, and in many places as high as the top of the coaches, they were unanimous in their praise of the management and train crew.

The new mail car between Green Bay and this city is due here today. This will be a great improvement over the old way of doing things. It has formerly taken longer to get a letter from Sturgeon Bay to Forestville, twelve miles distant, than to New York city.

SUICIDE OF AN INVALID.

August Vilten of Wausau Hangs Himself to a Rafter.

WAUSAU, Wis., Feb. 12.—August Vilton, a resident of the west side, hanged himself last night at 6 o'clock. His wife had gone out to the barn to milk the cow, and no one else was left with him, he being sick in bed, but his little girl 6 years old. He told her to go down cellar and get a rope that was there, which she did, and gave to him. The little girl left her father alone going into an adjoining room.

Vilten then took the rope and fastened one end to a hook on the wall and the other about his neck and jumped out of the chair. When his wife returned to the house she was horrified to find her husband dead. Vilter has had a great deal of trouble lately with his health, and about a week ago had an operation performed. It is supposed the pain he endured unbalanced his mind. He leaves a wife and one child and three grown-up step-children.

SUPREME COURT ADJOURNS.

KLEIN ADOPTION CASE.

Grandfather of the Child Has Changed His Mind.

MANITOWOC, Wis., Feb. 12.—The Klein adoption case of Sheboygan came up before Judge Gilson this morning. Testimony was taken this morning as to whether Mrs. Brosea, a relative of the little girl, who wants to adopt her, was a fit person to bring her up.

Several witnesses testified, among whom was the grandfather of the little girl, who said that he thought Mr. Bean, the present guardian of the little one, was best able to take care of her and ought to keep her.

He had previously testified that Bean ought not to have the child and said the priest had told him to so testify. The arguments will probably be heard this afternoon.

SALE OF PAINTINGS, RUGS, BOOKS, ETC.

A gentleman's private collection, consistings of paintings in oil and water colors, original remarque and signed proof etchings and engravings.

Old and rare English and American books.

Antique and magnificent Oriental rugs, ancient arms, cut glass and bric-a-brac will be offered at private sale on Thursday, Feb. 14, at 387 East Water street, the sale to continue until the entire collection is disposed of.

The collection though small, representing as it does only the luxuries of a gentleman's private dwelling, is exceedingly choice in all its departments and will afford a treat to lovers of beautiful things.

We trust the owner will have reason to congratulate himself upon the result of the sale, as the works displayed certainly merit the liberal appreciation of Milwaukeeans.

The sale will be in charge of Mr. T. A. Van Laun.

A Sound-Proof Partition.

A gentleman who lives in a southern town the other day employed a carpenter to partition off a part of his study and particularly instructed the workman to make the partition sound proof. The carpenter declared that he could do this effectually with a filling of sawdust. When it was finished the gentleman stood on one side and called to the carpenter on the other: "Can you hear me, Smith?"

"No, sir; not a bit," was the prompt reply.—Munsey's.
